Come for the Powder, Stay for the Chowder

Alta, Utah — Breaking bread is a tradition at the Alta Peruvian Lodge. And what tasty bread it is.

While guests mix, mingle and make new friends in the family-style seating in the dining room, the food is met with rave reviews. In fact, guests often tell the staff they'd eat here, even if it wasn't included in the rate. Now that's something to boast about.

Guests prep for a day on the slopes with a hearty, "stick-to-your-ribs" breakfast buffet, including the popular made-to-order omelet bar. Later, a mid-day ski break is met with an energizing lunch in the dining room. Top off the day with a full-service dining experience, complete with an assortment of fantastic entrees — pleasing every palate and personality.

Proving that you really can get a real drink (and shotskis) in Utah, the Peruvian Bar is a local favorite and deemed as one of the liveliest places in Alta, especially during après-ski.

It's an authentic dining experience that can only be found at a traditional lodge that's focused on community and camaraderie.

The Alta Peruvian Lodge is truly unlike any other ski lodge in Utah. The lodge is located at the base of the Alta Ski Resort, only 25 miles from Salt Lake City. Each year, Alta Ski Resort sees more than 500,000 visitors. The area boasts more than 500 inches of powder annually.

In addition to the all-inclusive dining (eat up, it's included!), full-service accommodations include an outdoor pool, hot tubs, sauna, shuttle service and genuine customer service.

To put it simply, it's just a great place to be.
